

Street of dreams

Street of dreams, Canada

This project is located at the "Street of Dreams", one of the most prestigious show of homes in western Canada. Being an artist at heart and given free reign by the owner, the installer exploited the creative versatility of Terraforce to the full.

Plantability is limited to terrace landscaping, thus cutting down on maintenance and irrigation requirements.

This attractive method of constructing steep terrace walls in the natural "rock face" appearance usually involves earth reinforcing to attain stability.

Campbell River on Vancouver Island

This neat domestic installation with Terralite blocks clearly shows why the product is so popular among homeowners in British Columbia.

The block with matching capstones is ideally suited for creating meandering terraces intermixed with flowerbeds and access stairways to match the most demanding requirements.

Installation can be undertaken by the homeowner, following step by step instructions provided or alternatively recommended installers can be approached for a quotation.

Campbell River

